You can contribute to the security of the nation

The Association of Former Intelligence Officers acts to promote public understanding of the role of intelligence by means of education and dissemination of factual material to all segments of the American public.

Among the communication channels used to accomplish this are newspapers, magazines, radio and television. Member representatives of the Association of Former Intelligence Officers regularly appear in person and in print in various media presenting to the public and to government officials, documented reasons for the need of a sustained and understood continuing intelligence effort on behalf of our national security. Members of the association participate in seminars and in meetings across the nation, talking to civic and professional groups, service organizations and to high school and college students.

The Association of Former Intelligence Officers, working with the congress has been invited to testify before committees of the House and Senate. Our members address Congressional staff meetings providing background information on the intelligence community. Individual Senators and Representatives have also requested the association's expertise when considering intelligence problems. Speakers and items from the "PERISCOPE", our newsletter, have been quoted in the Congressional Record.

Membership

Full Membership is available to U.S. citizens who have served with any U.S. Intelligence or Counterintelligence organization. Only full members have the right to vote or hold an office in AFIO.

Associate Membership is available to U.S. citizens who have not served as intelligence personnel but do support the aims of AFIO.

Annual Dues for both categories is $20 which is tax deductible.

Life Membership is available for full and associate members for $200 (tax deductible).

Why You Should Join

If you share our view that the maintenance of a continuing program of intelligence gathering is essential to our national security, then you should join with us. Most members do not engage in public speaking nor do they write for publication. Individual members can exert considerable influence by presenting informed views to friends and neighbors, writing letters to their elected representatives or local publications, and describing careers in intelligence to educators involved in counseling young people. The only significant source of funds for our programs is from the dues and donations of its members.
